

Morton Tribune
Morton, Texas
Thursday, October 24, 1985
From the collection of Oneta Yeary

D.A. Ramsey

Page 4, MORTON TRIBUNE, Morton, Texas, Thursday, October 24, 1985

Services for D.A. Ramsey, 76, were at 4 p.m. Thursday, October 17 at First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Duane Knowlton, pastor, and the Rev. David Treat, pastor of Agape United Methodist Church in Lubbock, officiating.

Burial was in the City of Levelland Cemetery under the direction of Geo. C. Price Funeral Directors.

He died at 4:50 a.m. Wednesday, October 16 at Cochran County Memorial Hospital in Morton after a brief illness.

He was born in Bailey and had been a Cochran County resident since 1945, moving here from Hockley County. He married Edith Gertrude Jackson Dec. 28, 1935, in Quanah. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Morton. He served on several committees with the Soil and Water Conservation Service and other farm-related organizations. He was a member of the school board in Bledsoe, a precinct chairman in Cochran County for several years and a farmer.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Glen of Corona, Calif.; a daughter, DeAnn Bell of Lubbock; a brother, Elree of Lubbock; five grandchildren; and a great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Leonard Groves, C.W. Wiggins, Bobbey Terry, Danny Key, J.F. Cooper Jr., Ted Bryant and Grome Holloway.

Continued on next page

Morton Tribune
Morton, Texas
Thursday, October 24, 1985
From the collection of Oneta Yeary

D. A. Ramsey

Services for D. A. Ramsey, 76, were at 4 p.m. Thursday, October 17 at First United Methodist Church with the Rev. Duane Knowlton, pastor, and the Rev. David Treat, pastor of Agape United Methodist Church in Lubbock, officiating.

Burial was in the City of Levelland Cemetery under the direction of Geo. C. Price Funeral Directors.

He died at 4:50 a.m. Wednesday, October 16 at Cochran County Memorial Hospital in Morton after a brief illness.

He was born in Bailey and had been a Cochran County resident since 1945, moving here from Hockley County. He married Edith Gertrude Jackson Dec. 28, 1935, in Quanah. He was a member of the First United Methodist Church in Morton. He served on several committees with the Soil and Water Conservation and other farm-related organizations. He was a member of the school board in Bledsoe, a precinct chairman in Cochran County for several years and a farmer.

Survivors include his wife; a son, Glen of Corona, Calif.; a daughter, DeAnn Bell of Lubbock; a brother, Elree of Lubbock; five grandchildren; and a great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were Leonard Groves, C. W. Wiggins, Bobbey Terry, Danny Key, J. F. Cooper Jr., Ted Bryant and Grome Holloway.

Back to Obituary Index